SEE END OF LYNCH BILL FILIBUSTER

Both Supporters And Foes Express Con- fidence

Washington, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Predictions of an imminent showdown in the senate anti-lynching filibuster brought expressions of confidence today from both supporters and foes of the controversial bill.

Senator Ellender (D-Ala.) continued to filibuster on the anti-lynching bill today with an assertion it was backed by the same groups of Negro voters which had forced some states to enact social equality laws.

"Political equality will lead to social equality, and that will lead to the downfall of civilization," Ellender said.

"We give to the Negroes as fine schools as any state, but we put them in different rooms. If we are let alone, we can get along with this problem. The facts show we are succeeding. We are hoping in a short while lynching will be a thing of the past."

As the senate turned into its third week of debate on the hotly disputed anti-lynching measure, Democratic Leader Barkley said he was not yet ready to say when night sessions would begin. The night meetings have been threatened by the leadership as a means of wearing out the southerners who are filibustering against the bill.

Pressure For Disposal Increases
Pressure for disposal of the controversial measure was increased, however, by filing of a report from the appropriations committee on the $1,412,000,000 independent office appropriation bill, one of the regular annual supply bills.

This was the first supply bill to reach the senate floor and run into delay because of the filibuster. Senator Connally (D-Tex.), leader of the southern opponents, said there were enough speakers to continue talking against the anti-lynching measure until the pressure of other legislation forces proponents to shelve it.

"I think we've got it beaten," said Senator Bailey (D-NC). "The

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Clyde Chronister of this city and Mrs. John Wolf of Odell, Ill., and two sons, Charles of Grand Valley, S. D., and H. B. Sands of Sioux City, Iowa. Her husband preceded her in death Oct. 1, 1937, seven children also preceding her in death. Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Jones funeral home, Rev. J. H. Hughes, pastor of the First Baptist church officiating. Interment will be in Oakwood.

Starting Early

Westerly, R. I., Jan. 17.—Five-year-old Frankie Tate waded a bandaged finger at fishermen today and told his own fish story.

Tired of skating on Blackbird pond, Frankie cut a hole in the ice, then shoved in his hand to test the temperature.

The hand came out like a shot—with an eight-inch pickler hanging on to his forefinger. Frankie had the pickler for supper.

Tapping of Telephone Wires in Federal Departments Admitted

Washington, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Senator McCarran (D-Nev.) told the public lands committee today he had received a report that interior department investigators had entered his office at night and ransacked his files a year and a half ago.

McCarran asked Louis R. Glavis, former head of the interior department's investigation service, whether the report was true.

Glavis replied that he had left the interior department more than a year ago.

Although Glavis did not answer directly McCarran's question, Chairman Adams (D-Colo.) of the committee said he interpreted Glavis' reply as meaning McCarran had not been investigated.

McCarran, inquiring as to whether it had been general practice to investigate congressmen and senators, was told by Glavis that "so far as I know, the secretary (Glavis)

Strike News Reported From Many Parts of World Today

SIT-DOWN STRIKE
Harrison, N. J., Jan. 17.—(AP)—The Committee for Industrial Organization called a sit-down strike of 1,000 men today at the Crucible Steel Co. of America plant.

Edwin Kaempf, organizer of the steel workers organizing committee, said the men planned to prevent any work being done anywhere in the plant.

Charging breach of contract on two counts—violation of seniority rights and discrimination against union leaders—Kaempf said the plant would be held indefinitely and a strategy mass meeting would be held in the building later today.

SUGAR STRIKE MENACING
Manila, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Army authorities sent 100 additional troops and constabularymen to a strike-harassed Pampanga province today as the situation in the sugar fields and mills became what they termed "more menacing."

A general strike was ordered yesterday in protest against arrest of 129 "lie down" strikers in a government-owned stone quarry. Reports did not indicate if workers responded.

The quarry workers seek an increase in daily wages from 30 to 40 cents gold to 50 cents. Sugar workers, on strike several days, ask a wage hike from 30 and 40 cents a ton to 50 cents.

PITTSBURGH THREAT

Pittsburgh, Jan. 17.—(AP)—A strike threatened today to disrupt trading in Pittsburgh's farflung produce markets and result in a shortage of fruits and vegetables in portions of three states.

Leaders of the Produce Workers Union, an A. F. of L. affiliate, called out approximately 500 workers, charging that "almost every firm in the yards has been violating its contract."

Denying union charges, Chairman A. C. O'Donnell of the Produce Dealers Trade Relations Committee, asserted the yards would be "open for business as usual."

Howard McGregor, president of the union local, charged the dealers were doubling the work of carriers and delivery men following dismissal of 80 employees in a terminal delivery service and were omitting overtime pay and vacations, which he said were provided in a written contract.

CITY WITHOUT PAPERS

Portland, Ore., Jan. 17.—(AP)—Mankin's age-old craving to know what the Jones' did last night sought satisfaction in back-fence gossip and radio broadcasts today as Portland settled down to its first day completely devoid of regularly-printed news.

Three daily newspapers, closed Saturday when 245 members of the Multnomah Typographical Union walked out on strike, remained shut down although this Sunday papers, set in advance, were sold. Publishers and union representatives, while still conducting meetings, seemed prepared to enter an endurance contest.

Calls seeking information of resumption of publication flooded switchboards at the Oregon Journal, Portland Oregonian and the News-Telegram.

Publishers agreed to wage demands but refused to reduce working hours.

Brave Switchboard Operator Is Dead

Jersey City, N. J., Jan. 17.—(AP)—Helen Sullivan, 26-year-old telephone operator, who remained at her switchboard arousing guests until her dress caught fire, died today of burns suffered in the Hotel Plaza fire which took three other lives nearly three weeks ago.

She was forced to run through a wall of flame to escape from the building.

$553,266 494 TO BUILD GREATER NAVY APPROVED

Committee Recommends Congress Follow Up Its Decision

Washington, Jan. 17.—(AP)—The House appropriations committee, recommended today a $553,266,494 appropriation to finance the navy in the coming fiscal year—an increase of $26,723,186 over the current year.

Although the total was $11,139,967 less than the budget requested, it would permit start of construction of 22 new ships—two battle-ships to cost $70,850,300 each; two cruisers, eight destroyers, six submarines and four auxiliary vessels.

In addition, the committee recommended funds to continue construction of more than 70 ships already underway. The total for both continuing and new construction was $138,063,157, a reduction of $9,636,850 from budget estimates.

The committee, in reporting the bill to the House, made no reference to the international situation, but some of the items as approved, in addition to new ship construction, appeared significant.

Significant Facts
One was $1,277,000 to reopen the torpedo manufacturing plant at Alexandria, Va., to supplement the output of the torpedo plant at Newport, R. I.

The committee also reversed its previous stand by recommending re-commissioning of the ammunition ship Pyro at a cost of about $435,200. Funds for this purpose were refused last year.

In one of the few instances where it increased amounts requested by the budget, the committee recommended $3,000,000 for purchase of strategic minerals whereas the budget asked for only $500,000.

Principal reductions made from the budget estimates included $3,424,248 from the item for pay, subsistence and transportation; $7,000,000 from the naval supply account fund; and $231,530 from the fuel and transportation item.

Soon after the appropriation bill was approved by the committee, the house passed and sent to the senate a measure to authorize an appropriation of $15,000,000 for modernization of the aircraft carriers Lexington and Saratoga. The vessels originally were designed as battle cruisers and were converted to carriers.

Mrs. Anna Belle Lee Passed Away

Mrs. Anna Belle Lee, resident of Dixon for the past 23 years, passed away Saturday evening at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George Collins, 1022 Madison avenue. She was born May 12, 1863, at West Point, Miss., the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. London Richards. She was united in marriage to Simon Lee in 1882 and to this union three children were born: Mrs. George Collins who survives her and James Lee and Mary Ann Stewart, who preceded her in death. She is survived by her husband, Simon Lee; a brother, London Richards of West Point, Miss.; a daughter, Mrs. George Collins of this city; 12 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren, and also a host of friends. Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 from the Second Baptist church, the pastor, Rev. H. F. Timmons officiating, and with interment in Oakwood.

SEEKS RE-ELECTION

Rockford, Ill., Jan. 17.—(AP)—State Representative David Hunter, Jr., a Republican, today had announced he would be a candidate for re-election in the April primary. He has been elected eight times to the lower house from the Tenth Senatorial district.

With George Odus were Paul Amillet, 57; his son, Archie, 29; and William H. Wall, 67; who Motorcycle Officer Charles J. Larson said termed themselves "Servants of the Prophet."

The elder men were arrested yesterday in the Temple grounds, Larson said, after Odus surrounded himself with a circle of fire and his companions stood by with clubs to beat off persons who attempted to reach him. Young Miller fled but surrendered later. The clubs and fire injured two men.

Larson quoted Odus as saying he had a "divine message to deliver to the people."

Larson said a tabernacle custodian ejected Odus from the building, but outside the aged man sprayed gasoline around him and set it afire.

After Fasting a Year

Gaunt and cadaverous, with the skin drawn tightly across his temples and chin, this is Dean Israel H. Noe as he looks today after a year's continuous fast—which he plans to keep up for two years more. A year ago the dean of St. Mary's Episcopal Cathedral at Memphis, Tenn., was a full-faced, ruddy individual. Now his eyes stare from sunken sockets as if seeing beyond the material world. It is this vision of life free from earthly needs, friends say, that induced Dean Noe to go on a diet of oranges alone a year ago, and on Jan. 2, 1937, to give up all food except a tiny communion wafer and a sip of wine three weekly.

NO TURNING BACK

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 17.—(AP)—Dean Israel Harding Noe said with conviction today there would be no "turning back" in his search for spiritual perfection and immortality.

"Nobody who has seen me can say I am taking food on the sly," the 46-year-old fasting leader of St. Mary's Episcopal Cathedral declared. "I look ghostly, you can see it."

"Dr. Fishbein (of the American Medical Association Journal) is right. No man could live on oranges alone—in the natural plane. The oranges only gave me energy last year. I have displaced the need for oranges by building up within the spiritual strength and energy."

Dean Noe spoke on his 16th day without food or water. He gave up his last material food—except for the communion wafer and sip of wine three times weekly—on January 2.

The dean revealed for the first time that before last year when he lived on oranges alone, he lived throughout 1936 on oranges and raw cashew nuts.

The dean started his congregation yesterday with the ultimatum: "Unless the church of Jesus Christ in this twentieth century can produce a demonstration of the fact that the whole Gospel can be lived here and now, by man, the church will be compelled to close its doors and the sooner it closes its doors the better it will be for men."

"PROPHET" ARRESTED

Salt Lake City, Jan. 17.—(AP)—A gray-bearded, 71-year-old self-styled "Prophet of the Living God," was held for investigation with three companions today following a grass fire that for a time threatened Salt Lake City's famed Latter Day Saints tabernacle.

With George Odus were Paul Amillet, 57; his son, Archie, 29; and William H. Wall, 67; who Motorcycle Officer Charles J. Larson said termed themselves "Servants of the Prophet."

The elder men were arrested yesterday in the Temple grounds, Larson said, after Odus surrounded himself with a circle of fire and his companions stood by with clubs to beat off persons who attempted to reach him. Young Miller fled but surrendered later. The clubs and fire injured two men.

Larson said a tabernacle custodian ejected Odus from the building, but outside the aged man sprayed gasoline around him and set it afire.

Accidents

Report of Week End Traffic Mishaps in Vicinity, State

NARROW ESCAPE

Kenneth Rocho, residing about three miles north of Amboy, miraculously escaped serious injuries in an automobile crash on U. S. route 52. Rocho was returning to his home and fell asleep, the car leaving the paving and crashing into the headwall of a concrete culvert about five miles north of Amboy. Rocho escaped uninjured but his car was badly wrecked. State Officer Mahan and Flach were called to the scene of the wreck and directed the removal of the damaged car.

NOSE NEARLY SEVERED

Emanuel May of this city was painfully cut and bruised in an automobile accident which occurred about 12:30 Sunday morning on the route 2 paving, two miles east of Dixon. A cut across the face almost severed his nose and he sustained other cuts and bruises, when his car left the paving and crashed into a ditch. State Officer Mahan and Flach took May to the office of a physician in Dixon where his injuries were dressed and the car, which was badly wrecked, was hauled to a local garage.

TRUCK OUT OF CONTROL

A large truck belonging to the Van Horne transit company of Hampton, Iowa, narrowly missed crashing into the front of the Ace Hardware store on Galena avenue Sunday night at 10:40. As the truck approached First street on Galena avenue, the driver lost control, and the heavily loaded machine skidded backward down the Galena avenue hill, crossing the street and striking the curbing in front of the hardware store, where it almost overturned. Traffic was blocked for almost an hour before damages could be repaired and the truck proceeded on its way to Chicago.

TRUCK HIT WRECK

Patsey Celantino, 305 East Third street, Rock Falls and family consisting of his wife and two children, Mary, aged 12, and Patsey, Jr., aged 10, narrowly escaped being crushed to death in an automobile crash which occurred on U. S. route 30 near the Dixon Municipal airport Sunday morning about 1 o'clock. They were returning to Rock Falls from Chicago and as they neared the airport, Mr. Celantino was blinded by the lights of an approaching car and lost control of his machine.

The car left the paving and crashed into the head wall of a cement culvert, turning the machine over on the paving. Delbert Luitzen, driver of a Takin Bros. truck of Waterloo, Ia., crashed into the overturned car before the Celantinos were able to get out of the overturned machine. Mrs. Celantino and two children were removed to the Katherine Shaw Bethel hospital suffering from severe cuts and bruises, and the wrecked car was hauled to a local garage. State Officers Flach and Mahan were called to the scene and directed the removal of the injured persons and the wrecked car.

Knew His Wants

Little Rock, Ark., Jan. 17.—(AP)—The Negro who held up a drug store last night knew what he wanted—and got it.

"This is a holdup," he said, pointing a pistol at Gordon Hunt, a clerk.

"Well, what do you want?" asked Hunt.

"Six dollars," said the robber. Hunt peeled a $1 and $5 bill from a roll of currency in the cash register. The Negro grabbed them and ran.

CHINESE ARE REPORTED TO GAIN GROUND

Troops Ordered Not To Retreat An Inch

Shanghai, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Chinese armies on the northern, central and Yangtze valley fronts were reported today to have pushed back Japanese invaders in a series of counter-attacks.

Advices through Chinese channels said Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek in a second visit to the front lines had ordered his troops "not to retreat a single inch."

Chinese reported that:

1. The Chinese eighth army, organized from once-outlawed Communist units, inflicted heavy losses on Japanese in central Shansi province;
2. A Chinese force along the Yangtze river above Nanking pushed back Japanese outposts, occupied two villages near Wuhu and prepared for an attempt to recapture Wuhu itself;
3. A Chinese guerrilla unit captured Chuanhsia, on the Footing peninsula opposite Shanghai, bringing a Japanese declaration of martial law in Footing;
4. Other Mongolian troops advanced against Patow in the northern province of Suiyuan.

Peace Talk "Baseless"
"Dr. H. H. Kung, China's second most powerful leader, declared China "can continue war for years," and said "all current talk of Chinese-Japanese peace, which apparently is inspired by Tokyo and Berlin, is utterly baseless."

From Nanchang, in Kiangsi province, Soviet-manufactured airplanes raided Japanese airfields and military concentrations. Japanese army and navy spokesmen announced jointly that there were "no major developments" on any front. There were only scanty reports on the Chinese counter-drive in southwestern Shantung and northern Anhwei provinces, where some 400,000 Chinese were trying to hold the Japanese back from Suichow, junction point on China's vital east-west railway, the Lung-hai.

U. S. Cruiser Stands By
The United States cruiser Marblehead stood by at the North China port of Chefoo, in Shantung province, to protect lives and property of 55 American adults and 27 children.

An uprising of several hundred members of the Chinese Peace Preservation Corps had led to fear of rioting in the foreign residential area.

The American consulate at Chefoo reported that representatives of the Japanese-sponsored Peiping and Tsinan governments had arrived at the city and were negotiating to take over the administration as an alternative to hostilities. Late today the revolting Chinese police had returned to their duties.

PROPOSE NEW REGIME
Tokyo, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Establishment of a new central Chinese government centering on Shanghai was proposed today as a sequel to Japanese withdrawal of recognition of Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist regime.

A statement attributed to Shigeru Kawagoe, Japanese ambassador to China, suggested the setting up of such a government as Japan's next move toward "pacification" of east Asia.

"It is imperative that Japan and a new Chinese regime, able to work together, cooperate to tide over the difficult situation," Kawagoe was quoted in a Domei (Japanese news agency) dispatch.

"I believe the atmosphere is fast developing to favor establishment of a new regime in central China,"

Winners Of Carrier Boys Contest Went To Norge Ski Meet

Nine Dixon carriers for the Evening Telegraph were rewarded Sunday with a trip to the Norge Ski club international meet held at Fox River Grove, which was attended by a crowd of nearly 40,000 persons.

The boys were awarded the trip as a result of their meritorious work in a recently conducted subscription campaign here. The boys were accompanied by Arnold V. Lund, circulation manager, Fred Chiverton and James Klein of the circulation department, William Krug and Charles Ross of the advertising and news departments.

Last summer the boys were the guests of the circulation department at a ball game at the Chicago Cubs' spring field.

Among others from Dixon who attended the meet yesterday were Atty. Robert Warner and wife, Harry Quack and Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Torstenson.

Washington—WPA is faced with an extraordinary mystery. Although unemployment has increased tremendously, applicants for work-relief have not been given some 250,000 jobs which are open to them.

Suspected reason: Local politics. The increase in relief jobs came on December 9, when Harry Hopkins, faced with huge demands, let down the bars and ordered 350,000 extra jobs added to WPA rolls.

Subsequently, this order was enlarged to permit an unlimited expansion of WPA rolls in nine cities—Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Milwaukee, St. Paul, Omaha and Kansas City.

But despite this order and the unrelenting increase in unemployment, only 100,000 so far have been added to work-relief lists. This is less than one-third the number authorized by Hopkins.

For some unexplained reason local WPA officials, notwithstanding the clamor for aid and wide latitude granted them, are taking their own sweet time about giving men jobs.

Labor's Nonpartisan league, flooded with complaints charging local officials with playing politics, believes there is wholesale sabotage of the government's relief program, and threatens a congressional investigation.

WPA authorities already had started this inquiry, but after this laborite protest they rushed out new instructions to local officials to speed up the expansion of their rolls immediately or explain their failure to do so.

URGES REPEAL OF PROFIT TAX AID BUSINESS

Washington, Jan. 17.—(AP)—A representative of the New York board of trade urged the House ways and means committee today to approve immediate repeal of the undistributed profits and capital gains taxes as a "stimulant" to business.

M. L. Seidman, chairman of the board's tax committee, said no tax was "more hated and discredited" or puts such fear in business.

Seidman was the first private witness at hearings on tax revision recommendations of a ways and means sub-committee. The subcommittee has proposed modification of the undistributed profits tax for all but a few closely-held corporations. These modifications would abolish the tax so far as firms with incomes of $25,000 or less are concerned.

The great majority of businessmen, Seidman said, sincerely believe the undistributed profits and capital gains taxes "had much to do with the distortion of our capital economy and with the breaking down of confidence in the future functioning of our economy."

"So thoroughly is business convinced of this," he continued, "that the need for the immediate repeal of the undistributed profits tax, as a business stimulant, has become somewhat of an obsession in business circles."

He recommended a flat tax of 12 and 1/2 per cent on capital gains to replace the present levy.

Boy, Who Recently Recovered Sight, Given Black Eye

Hot Springs, N. M., Jan. 17.—(AP)—An operation gave 11-year-old Julian Galindo sight only a month ago, but he is a bright boy and is learning his way around his new world quickly.

Next time he will know enough to duck when he sees a fist coming his way.

Today, though, he has a shiner, result of a scramble at a party at Carrie Dingley hospital for children. Doctors said the "sock" did no harm.

Sickness, Death Strike Often In Poorest Families

Washington, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Sickness and death strike more often, the public health service said today, in families too poor to afford medical care.

A nationwide survey of health conditions showed that persons on relief and those earning less than $1500 a year get sick oftener, are sick longer, suffer more severely and receive less medical care than persons earning $3,000 a year or more.

RETAIL BUDGETS EXCEEDED

The fact that retail sales for December and January will materially exceed budgeted estimates affords considerable encouragement to wholesale and primary market circles. Most of the large department store and chain organizations had prepared buying budgets based upon the estimates that December sales would fall 3 per cent or more from the 1932 mark. January budgets allowed for declines of 10 per cent or more in many cases. Sales so far in the current month are sufficiently good to guarantee that such estimates will be exceeded.—Journal of Commerce.

GENERAL MARKET

There appears to be an underlying current running toward considerable business improvement from the extremely depressed levels of the last two months of 1932. This is reflected, as it always is at first,

more in a better feeling as a result of improved market action, a more conciliatory attitude of the Administration toward business and the feeling that the excesses of early 1932 have been corrected, rather than as a result of any important measurable improvement in actual production and sales figures—Oil Statistics Co.

NEW COAL PRICES

The new bituminous coal prices favor the railroads and the home users at the expense of the public utilities and general industry. The commission will probably receive small credit for its commendable reduction of an estimated 15 cents a ton on domestic coal prices; and such credit as there may be will likely accrue more particularly from retail distributors, who will see this as strengthening their position marketwise with competitive substitutes, or as an additional margin of profit.—A. T. Shurick in The Annalist.

Cooking School Coming Again At Readers' Request

A newspaper cannot always grant requests from readers. But when the identical request comes in week after week and month after month, even a newspaper must bow to the wishes of the majority and take affirmative action.

The "Ayes" have it. The popular, much-sought Cooking School is coming—the free, entertaining and thoroughly profitable course in homemaking arts, which is a gift to readers from The Telegraph.

Actually, it is safe to call the school a gift to all readers, men included, for they are destined to reap the benefits—long after the four-day course in freshly-inspired menus, designed to tempt the jaded appetite.

Now is the time for all good homemakers to reserve these dates on their kitchen calendars: Jan. 25, 26, 27, 28.

Dixon Theatre has been chosen for this long-awaited reunion of homemakers, where hospitality will reign; where every woman will find problems close to her own heart discussed helpfully, informally and intelligently; where delicious, tempting foods will be mixed and cooked in a model kitchen in full view of the alert audience, and where gifts galore will be distributed daily, even though the admission is entirely free.

Of course, a scientifically-planned kitchen must be in charge of a home manager, who has had the advantage of exceptional training, study and experience, linked with natural ability and a genuine liking for this important job.

Mrs. Emily M. Lantz, the Telegraph's food expert, has this background of long research and practical experience, but best of all, she thoroughly enjoys her job. In short, she knows all about the trials and responsibilities of housekeeping and household management and is able to simplify the daily problems for others by her own personal understanding.

"There is always something new under the sun," and so a Cooking School is never old, except in name. Eager pupils at the school just announced, will find the program as spick and span as the immaculate kitchen. Off with the old—on with the new recipes, new equipment, fresh ideas and inspiration and latest developments in household lore. Long months of study and preparation have gone into the building of this modern laboratory of homemaking ideas.

Guests to The Telegraph will reap the harvest from this intensive planning, just as they will reap a harvest of daily gifts and unheralded surprises, many of which will bring pleasure and renewed appreciation of "school days" long after the final graduation date, Friday, Jan. 28.

One of the anticipated features of the free Cooking School will be 10 daily gift bags, crammed to overflowing with household products and other useful articles. Guests of Telegraph are bound to smile, smile, smile as they pack their rewards in these market bags.

Free recipe sheets will be distributed daily, so that the inspiration of the new recipes can be carried home accurately.

Sign up a Cooking School party today and plan to join your neighbors in the Dixon Theatre on all four days of the school, Jan. 25, 26, 27, 28.

Policy in Orient War Is Subject of Interesting Talk

The pressure of united economic sanctions backed by the willingness to enforce military ones if necessary would, according to Mrs. Clifton Utley, chairman of the department of foreign policy of the Illinois League of Women Voters, do a great deal toward halting the present invasion of China by Japan in the Far Eastern undeclared war.

Mrs. Utley, who spoke Saturday afternoon before the local league at the home of Mrs. H. U. Bardwell, presented the situation in the Far East with a view toward what the United States shall accept as its foreign policy.

Today, Mrs. Utley declared, the American policy is in an undeclared state of flux and it becomes our problem as individuals to select a course of action. Shall we, she asked, continue the Open Door policy, shall we invoke the neutrality act, shall we assume it as our duty to insist on the sanctity of treaties or shall we become isolationists?

This nation must estimate the value of foreign trade to us in China and decide if we are willing to permit Japan, with her success in the Orient, to cut off our trade there.

The problem becomes larger, Mrs. Utley pointed out, when we remember that our course of action now becomes a pattern for future procedure in the matter of deciding the importance of world trade to this nation. Furthermore, we must determine what our responsibility is as the greatest nation in the world is toward furthering the pious hope for world organization. American policy now seems to be that we are unwilling to take the lead among nations but we indicate a willingness to co-operate to prevent strife. It strife does break out, our present policy follows the hope for mediation. In an attempt to be practical and not idealistic the League of Women Voters supports the plan of mediation, believing that the trend to peace now days must be in that direction and the steps toward idealism, small at first, must be taken sometime.

Secretary of State Hull's policy, Mrs. Utley pointed out, has been a willingness to co-operate with other nations with an effort to prevent excitement until we see what those nations want to do.

The value of the present neutrality act was also a subject presented by the speaker. Shall we invoke it or not? And what does it do in regard to the Chinese war? These were issues raised by Mrs. Utley who pointed out that the neutrality act would not stop our shipment of oil, cotton and scrap iron to Japan as many believe. She cleared this issue with the reminder that the president, under the neutrality act lists the commodities on which an embargo is placed and that the act was written to protect us from war inflation and keep American ships and nationals outside the danger zone where their harm might call forth declaration of war.

"Once we invoke the act," Mrs. Utley declared, "it might call forth a declaration of war from Japan. Others declare that invoking the act leaves little chance for peaceful mediation."

Congress, Mrs. Utley believes, will amend the act at this season giving the president the power to apply sanctions in support of other nations if such an action seems wise.

War of "Defense"

The Japanese claim that their war in China is one of defense. This attitude may be understood better, Mrs. Utley said, when we realize that the Japanese came to our country, absorbed our terms of speech and went back to their nation using the same expressions long after they became outmoded over here. Japan claims that the discriminations against her by the employment of boycotts, etc., put her in a position of defense.

Mrs. Utley's address was one of amazing clarity in which she outlined the past events which brought the war in the Orient, explained the attitude of the Japanese people, the power of the military form of Japanese government and outlined the questions now facing the American people in regard to a policy.

Mrs. Florence Plummer White introduced the speaker and tea was served following the address.

C. I. O. SCOFFS AT HINT U. S. SEAMEN LACK DISCIPLINE

Allege An Attempt To Pass Coercive Legislation

Washington, Jan. 17.—(AP)—An assertion that discipline had broken down on American merchant ships drew from C. I. O. maritime unions today the reply that closed Senate hearings were being used in an attempt "to scare Congress into passing coercive legislation for the seaman."

Testimony of an unidentified shipmaster that "our ships are infested with thugs, thieves, gamblers, dope runners, drunkards, and racketeers of all descriptions" was made public Saturday by Chairman Copeland (D-NY) of the Senate commerce committee.

The shipmaster, who said he was "liable to have a bullet in my back" if his name were disclosed, declared he had seen discipline "vanish entirely during the last two years."

Ralph Emerson, legislative representative of the unions, replied in a statement:

"It is obvious why his name was suppressed it is not because, as he has been instructed to say, he would be killed (which is ridiculous), but rather because his statements will not bear scrutiny."

Emerson declared the committee hearings had become "an out-and-out prosecution of American seamen—with even the most rudimentary rules of evidence thrown to the winds."

RYAN BREAKS INDOOR SHOT PUT RECORD

New York, Jan. 17.—(AP)—The indoor track season, which was expected to produce a glittering collection of racing records, has thus far brought only one world mark—and it belongs to a shot putter.

Francis J. Ryan, a Columbia junior, tossed the 12-pound shot 60 feet 7 5/8 inches to better Leo Sexton's five-year-old international indoor record of 59 feet 3 1/8 inches, Saturday night at the 165th infantry games.

Ryan's feat took most of the attention away from Don Lash, Archie San Romani and Gene Cunningham, the three great middle distance stars, who ran in separate races.

While Ryan was breaking the indoor record and endangering Jack Torrance's outdoor mark of 62 feet 1 1/4 inches, Lash carried off the track laurels. Running on a 10-lap track with four sharp turns, the Indians star chalked up a 9:11 two miles, which included 8:33.6 for the 3,000 meters, phenomenal times considering the conditions.

San Romani, whom Lash forced to a new American citizens' record in the 3,000 meters a week ago, ran in a three-quarter mile race and finished third behind Lou Burns of Manhattan and William Jenkins of Bound Brook, N. J. Burns was clocked in 3:11.8 with San Romani three yards and Jenkins two thirds behind.

Cunningham, who has not run the mile since the Sugar Bowl meet, breezed to victory in the 1,000 yard event in 2:14.6, well over his record for the event of 2:10.1.

LITTLE DOING ON WAR FRONT IN SPAIN TODAY

Hendaye, France, at the Spanish Frontier, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Insurgent air raids along the Mediterranean coast were practically the only notable activity today in the Spanish civil war.

Except for minor operations on the Granada front, where insurgents said they straightened their lines, ground forces engaged in little fighting.

Insurgent planes caused greatest damage at Cabanal, near Valencia, where a government communiqué said five persons were killed and 40 wounded by bombs.

Other places attacked were La Arenas, also near Valencia, and Reus and Buriana, near Barcelona. One insurgent raider was reported shot down.

The government said several bombs were dropped near the British vessel Seabank Spray, anchored off Barcelona.

In the Teruel area, insurgent troops were reported resting from their prolonged efforts to retake the strategic south Aragon city and government defenders were content to hold their ground.

SNEAD CAPTURES CROSBY TOURNEY LAURELS AGAIN

Del Mar, Calif., Jan. 17.—(AP)—For the second straight year, Sam Snead, long-distance swinger from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., had the major share of prize money in the Bing Crosby golf tournament in his jeans today.

Siammin' Sam romped home yesterday with a new rancho Santa Fe course record of 67, fashioned on his final round. He put together a score of 139 for 36 holes. Par for the Rancho layout is 72.

Crosby put out $3,000 in prize Snead took $50 of it for first prize in the professional competition.

Playing with Doug McKinnon of Los Angeles, he won $225 second place money in the pro-amateur contest, which was captured by Art Bell of Pasadena and Phil Finlay

Trails Snead 2 Strokes

Jimmy Hines of Garden City, N. Y., trailed Snead by two strokes. Jimmy Demaret of Houston, Tex., was third with 142. They got $350 and $250.

Horton Smith, Chicago, and Henry Picard, Hershey, Penn., shot 143.

Filmland was well represented in the pro-amateur flights. Crosby and Harold Sampson of San Francisco got 144. Guy Kibbee, veteran character actor, teamed with Harry Bassler of Long Beach, Calif., for 157. Johnny Weissmuller and Byron Nelson of Reading, Penn., showed a card of 149.

Finlay and McKinnon were first and second in the amateur competition.

The next big match in the California winter golf circuit is the Pasadena $3,000 open, January 21-24.

Bits of Gossip of Sports Picked Up By AP Writer

New York, Jan. 17.—(AP)—This should give those Cub master-minds something to think about: When Lonnie Frey was working at second base for the Dodgers, infield grounders used to slide through his legs like greased pigs whenever Van Mungo was pitching... and Van Mungo was pitching... and Van Mungo was pitching... It got so bad, Mungo once slammed his glove down and refused to go on 'til Frey was yanked... Now the grapevine says Van is ticketed for the Cubs... Where (you guessed it) Frey draws his pay-check.

WHY SNUB

GROVER CLEVELAND

In the midst of a build-up that would put him down in history
with Thomas Jefferson, Andrew Jackson, Abraham Lincoln and Woodrow Wilson, with some concessions to Theodore Roosevelt, in his Jackson day address, President Roosevelt said:

"There followed an uninspired commercialized era in our national life, lighted briefly by the stubborn integrity of Grover Cleveland."

Passing by the intimation that the commercialized era, which made the nation what it is, is something to be despised, it seems that it wouldn't have been a bad idea to have itemized some of the occasions
upon which Grover Cleveland's reputation for "stubborn integrity"
is based, but the listener and the reader are left only to guess why
the country has given Cleveland
that place in history.

The stubborn integrity of Grover Cleveland was based upon his stubborn maintenance of the gold standard under adverse conditions;
upon his unwavering support of sound money against the clamor of those demanding cheap money.

"Every dollar of fixed and stable value has through the agency of confident credit an astonishing capacity of multiplying itself in financial work," said Cleveland in one of his messages to congress.
"Every unstable and fluctuating dollar falls as a basis of credit, and in its use begets gambling and undermines the foundation of honest enterprise."

What the United States promised to pay in gold he paid in gold
—stubborn integrity.

When that clamor for cheap
money died down it didn't rise again until it was given ear by Franklin D. Roosevelt, and the instability of currency that now exists is contributing to the unstable conditions of business.

The stubborn integrity of Cleveland was based upon the manner
in which he compelled Chicago
rioters to respect the United States mails, and from that day until the day that Franklin D. Roosevelt grinned while the C. I. O. took possession of mails in Ohio and said
what might and might not be dispatched, there had been profound respect everywhere for the United States mails and their movements.

It was an element of that stubborn integrity that caused Grover Cleveland to promulgate the theory that it is the duty of the people to support the federal government, not of the federal government to support the people.

In invoking the Monroe doctrine
he left no mistake as to the importance of that principle in the life and strength of the United States.

which equals that which follows a supine submission to wrong and injustice and the consequent loss of national self-respect and honor;
beneath which are shielded and defended a people's safety and greatness," Cleveland said in a special message to congress on the Venezuelan situation.

President Roosevelt had good reason for not going into the record of that stubbornly honest democrat, Grover Cleveland.

ANOTHER PUFF FOR HITLER?

News commentators who have been searching under the wood-piles and in chancellery waste baskets in Europe surmised that perhaps the British promised Hitler
a free hand in central Europe in return for his pledge to desist for six years in his demand for a restoration of Germany's lost colonies.

There are many reasons to doubt seriously that the British made any such promise, and also many reasons to doubt that Hitler made such a pledge.

But it will be noted that events
in Rumania recently seem to support the theory that there actually was an exchange of pledges. Rumania has been allied closely with the French since the war, the two considering themselves as allies against a German restoration to influence and affluence. Since the rise of Hitler to power there has been a minority nazi party in Rumania, but it had been held well in check.

Recently, however, parliamentary confusion reigned in Rumania and Octavian Goga, a leader of the nazi group, was asked to form a cabinet
to succeed the one just resigned.
If the nazi proponents in the Rumanian parliament are in a minority, they will be unable to command
a vote of confidence for the Goga cabinet. If King Carol had wished to create a chaotic condition, he could have chosen no better way than to call upon a group not able to function. If Carol wishes to seize control and establish a nazi dictatorship, the time is ripe, much to the sorrow of the Jews.

The new political setup has announced its hostility of Jewry and already has put into effect various anti-Semitic measures, including
plans to exile more than a million Jews. Three newspapers friendly to Jews have been suspended temporarily.

Concurrently, Hitler has put new anti-Jewish restrictions in force.

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN
which is called:

WHY MINCE WORDS?
Did you know what lies behind
the mince pie—that millions of darling little minces are yearly bin slaughtered to satisfy the epicurean tastes of mince-pie lovers?

My interest in this little animal was first aroused last week while in a local meat market. There I met a young woman, an old friend of mine, who was making her first shopping excursion as a newly-wed.
While I was felicitating with the young chump, the butcher interrupted with "Is there something I can do for you?"

"I want two pounds of nice, tender young mince, please," said the too, too blissful bride.

Had I been living in a fool's paradise? What, where and how was a mince? Why hadn't mother told me?

Came the dawn. I remembered the previous Thanksgiving when my ravenous appetite was being satisfied
at the expense of Messrs. Soup, Turkey, Stuffing, Cranberry, Mince Pie, Nuts and Coffee. I ate all of it with but one exception. My munching on the mince pie had been rudely
arrested by some hard substance, which upon examination appeared to be the leg bone of some small animal. Was I to put two and two together and get mince? My curiosity was aroused. I was determined to find out all about minces
before another sun had set.

What did my research reveal?
Britannica said: "Mince, native of the Intaccuhati Mountains in southwestern Pieternitz-Sonder-hausen. Six feet to ten feet long;
three inches high. Body shaped like a corkscrew. Has five pairs of double-jointed legs, distributed at equal intervals along its length.

Croaks like a frog. When pursued it corkscrews up a tree and sings
like a canary to befuddle its pursuers. At home in water, where it propels itself by swallowing the water and violently expelling it through its ears, which are located midway anterior-posteriorly on the median dorsal line. Sometimes lives to be a hundred and fifty years old.

the first of June through the following May; spawns on the first of every month including leap year, in an air-conditioned nest of reinforced concrete blocks built in the top-
most branch of a young walnut sapling. The young are raised on an exclusive diet of nuts off the family tree. When, at the age of seventy-six, the young reach maturity the nut diet is supplanted by one of diced apples, raisins, citron, spices and brandy.

"Smalkehaupen in his famous zoological work added: 'The mince takes a bath once a year by submerging itself in water up to its neck. This, of course, leaves a ring.
The age of mince may be determined by counting the rings.' The natives of Pieternitz-Sonder-hausen tame wild minces and teach them to do tricks and make funny noises. These trained minces, when covered with burnt cork, put on a very entertaining performance
called a mince-rel'.

And there you have it. In the future, those who still insist upon applying their culinary skill to the making of mince pies can never say that I didn't warn them. Further,
if you should make a pie of a mince that died of old age—well, all I shall say is, You made your own pie,
now live in it."

Thus ends the stuff and nonsense
for this week. In the note attached to this learned research job was written: "You may think this is crazy, but I've noticed that every so often you include the lighter things
in your column and this is something I once wrote in an attempt to ape Robert Benchley. I guess."

we would realize in these days the sinfulness of sin as God sees it.

Now, I feel perfectly well, I'm not angry at anyone, but I haven't any sugar coated pills to hand out. I wish the devil would get a case of chronic spinalmeningitis.

In II Timothy 3rd Chapter Paul received a vision centuries before about the day in which we are living. If Paul had been living today
he could not give a better description about these days. If you are not conscious that you are living in perilous times you had better
open your eyes and look around.

Paul says This know also, that in the last days perilous times shall come. For men shall be lovers of their own selves, covetous, boast-ers, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy, without natural affection, truce-
breakers, false accusers, incontinent, fierce, dispisers of those who are good, traitors, heady, highminded, lovers of pleasures more than lovers of God.

Men are lovers of themselves.
Men would tell God to sit aside from the throne while man would rule. He has been trying to rule God in recent years and what a failure
he has been making. We have been the victim of magazine articles.
The conceit of our day! The self-sufficiency! The defecation of self!
Sometimes I wonder if God won't have to use a magnifying glass to see some people.

Covetousness—keeping up with the Joneses, 90 per cent of our automobiles have been purchased on the installment plan. 24 per cent is paid for credit accommodation.
Folks have mortgaged homes to buy automobiles. Folks have gone to any extreme to dress (so-called) up-to-style.

The peacock is an extremely beau-

death of his eight children from diphtheria.

Luther Burbank once said he was going to spend the next five years refuting Christianity. He died within the next year.

Disobedience to parents is caused by a lack of discipline in home life. School teachers are deploring the fact that it is difficult to make children behave in school. At the end of a joy ride two young men were left unconscious and two young women dead. One hundred eighty-six mothers telephoned en-daavoring to ascertain whether or not these young people were theirs.
We are supposed to have advanced education but some children are laughing and calling parents back-numbers. If some young people knew half as much as their parents had forgotten they would know a lot more than they do. You are not going to get all your education in school. The University of Hard Knocks will give a wonderful postgraduate course. Billy Sunday once said he believed in the old adage Spare the rod and spoil the child.
He believed that it was a good idea to hang the hickory stick above
the door under the motto, 'I need three every hour.'

The devilishness of this day can be traced to the four following:
suggestive literature, automobiles,
movies and dances.

To think up is to climb up, to think down is to slide down. You cannot fill the art galleries of your mind with 'True Stories, etc.' and keep a clean mind.

The automobile could be such a blessing to us but also can be such a curse. Here you have a complete story in a nutshell. Automobile—dance hall—car parked beside the road—maternity hospital.

I do not pose as a reformer but a defender of the oncoming generation. The Turkish authorities have forbidden young people less than fifteen years of age to see American movies. Let us face facts. A statement from the book, 'Movie Made Children' claims many children are known to imitate criminal rules of conduct. A large per cent of young girls attributed the lust of easy life
and wild parties to the movies.
Better Homes and Gardens warns parents to be very careful about pictures their children see because influences cast about them.

Some people say 'Aren't there any good movies?' 'Yes! There are some good foods dropped into the garbage can but I don't get my meals there.'

A university student once asked:
"Why is a flapper like a bungalow?"
The answer was: painted in front, shingled in back, and lacking in the upper story.

Some people say they need to dance to get grace. It isn't the steps but the holds. One man thought he would solve the problem
by renting a building and using one floor for women and girls and another floor for men and boys but it was no time at all before he was bankrupt. No man wants to hug another man. He might just as well hug a lamp post. If the girls could take away the screen from the boys' eyes and read their thoughts they would leave the dance floor blushing.

An African was once asked about dancing. The African said his forefathers danced to arouse animal passions but they were pagan.

People say the cream of society dances but maybe that is why the upper crust has become so tough.
If entertainment is our ideal let us quit. We need diversion but examine those things for the stamp of the devil.

Let us stop our peacock living with pride and self-sufficiency. Let us say to God 'Here am I, Use me.'

Chicago Leads in Baby Bonds Sales

cago leads all other cities in the sale of United States savings "baby" bonds, the treasury announced today.

Chicago led both first class postoffices and the nation with a total of $25,577,200 out of an aggregate of $1,367,935,000 for the nation up to the first of this year.

Labor Leaders Re- new Peace Pleading

New York, Jan. 17—(AP)—Two prominent union leaders—one C. I.
O. and the other A. F. of L.—added their support today to a plea by David Dubinsky, C. I. O. vice chairman, for a truce between labor's warring armies.

They were Max Zaritsky, one of the founders of the Committee for Industrial Organization, and Matthew Woll, vice president of the American Federation of Labor.

Zaritsky, president of the United Hatters, Cap & Millinery Workers
International Union, a C. I. O. affiliate claiming 35,000 members, said
a truce must be concluded at once if the trade union movement is to escape restrictive legislation and disintegration.

"For the sake of the immediate as well as the ultimate interests of the workers, labor's war must end," he said in an editorial in the Hat
Worker, official organ of his union.

Brooklyn last night that continuation of labor's factional strife would discredit the entire labor movement.

In Jersey, Car as Well as Operator Must Pass Driving Test

INSPECTIONS ARE AIMED TO KEEP DEFECTIVE AUTOS OFF HIGHWAYS

That howl emanating from the region just west of the Hudson river is the protest of New Jersey motorists against the new automobile tests each car must pass before being certified as fit to drive. Lights, ignition, brakes, horn, windshield, steering all must pass muster.

Above inspectors test wheel alignment.

Although the tests cost but 50 cents, motorists began to howl when nearly 50 per cent of the cars, some models just out of the salesrooms, were rejected as in need of adjustments. Most of the trouble was caused by improperly focused headlights, which are tested by the meters on the above apparatus.

Uncertainty Concerning Candidacies Is Prevalent Today

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 17—(AP)—
The political uncertainty that enveloped the United States senatorship also covered other 1938 elective state offices today, although most if not all of the eligible incumbents are expected to seek second terms.

No major candidacies have been announced in either party.

John A. Wieland of Calumet
City, Superintendent of Public Instruction, and Adam F. Bloch of Chicago, clerk of the Supreme Court, have kept silent in the senatorial skirmishing, but their friends expect them to seek renomination.

Governor Horner, preparing to enter a primary campaign against Senator William H. Dieterich, has said the administration will have a full state "slate," but hasn't revealed his attitude toward the men who fill the offices now. Wieland, who didn't agree with the governor's state school board bill, opposed him in the 1936 primary split.

Treasurer John C. Martin of Salem can't run for a third term
this year and has been listed among the potential senatorial candidates. Several Democrats have been talked about for treasurer, but neither the Horner nor the Kelly-Nash faction has picked out its man.

On the Republican side, there has been talk that Oscar Nelson of Geneva, former treasurer and auditor,
might run for treasurer again.

The intentions of the GOP war chiefs and dark horses may be revealed when county chairmen meet here Friday to talk over campaign strategy and attempt a working agreement between Cook county and downstate.

The Big Democratic leaders, who have appointments with President Roosevelt this week, about the same time are expected to start unveiling their candidates, unless factional peace should be negotiated.

DIXON NOSES OUT IMPROVED FALLS QUINT

Locals Find Rock Falls Stronger Than Before

Finding Rock Falls much stronger than it was in the first game of the annual home series, Dixon high manager to nose out the Whiteside county team of the Rock River Valley conference 23 to 19 there Saturday night. The Dixon lightweights and freshmen also turned in victories in the two preliminary games.

Taking full advantage of their small gymnasium the Rock Falls boys played a tight defensive game and exhibited a rapid-fire passing game in the first half that threatened to wear the Sharpshooters out. Numerous free throws were missed by both teams in the first half of the game particularly in the first quarter when each team failed to connect with three chances apiece. Ankeny opened the scoring on a free throw and Hunsberger of Rock Falls gave his team one to start the Greensies on their way. The lead changed hands four times in the opening stanza with Rock Falls emerging into a 5 to 4 lead.

More Sparse Scoring
The second quarter was even more devoid of scoring. Wright edged the Falls team into a 6-4 advantage when he fouled by Ankeny and the latter promptly retaliated after a time-out period for Dixon, by tying the count on a nice long shot from the side. The lead then changed hands twice again and the half ended in an 8 to 8 tie.

It was not until well into the third period that the hosts began to show the strain of the fast pace, they themselves had set. The insertion of Dixon's brilliant freshmen center prospect, Bugg, also spelled defeat for the Greensies. Rock Falls maintained its lead until finally Bugg gave Dixon a 14-14 tie and from that point on the enemy was never able to pass the Sharpshooters, though in the fourth period they made the score 20-19 on Hunsberger's free toss. At this juncture the Purple and White boys changed their strategy to a stalling game and as Rock Falls became more and more panicky in their efforts to recapture the ball they committed costly fouls.

The lightweights also found their opposition troublesome but had less difficulty than the heavyweights in assuring themselves a win. At no time during the game did the hosts spurt into a dangerous lead. Dixon held a safe 5 to 1 first quarter margin and was still ahead 8 to 6 at half time. In the third quarter the locals slipped in three more baskets made by Cox, Bush, and Bevilacqua to practically stow the game away on ice. Rock Falls failed to rally in the concluding frame and lost 20 to 11.

During the half time intermission of the heavyweight game a group of Rock Falls coaches dressed in green and white uniforms performed fancy military maneuvers on the floor to the delight of the crowd. They received a big hand from their appreciative spectators.

Knacks, Sterling Expected To Win Easily Tuesday

Neither the Knacks Leaders nor Sterling's Walz Lunch basketball teams are expected to have much trouble in maintaining their joint hold on first place in the Industrial league Tuesday night.

The Knacks will tangle with the Reynolds Wires at 7:15 P. M. and the Sterling boys meet the reinforced Dixon Evening Telegraph quintet at 8:30 P. M. The I. N. U. team members will referee the games.

Patty Berg Tucks Augusta Title In Bag By 311 Total

Augusta, Ga., Jan. 17.—(AP)—Patty Berg of Minneapolis headed for the Florida circuit today with the Augusta women's golf tournament trophy tucked neatly in her bag.

She clinched the title yesterday with a 72-hole total of 311, which included three sub-par rounds and one par 79 round of medal play. Patty also won last year.

For every ten homes in the United States, records show that there is an average of 7.2 automobiles.

BRADLEY TURNS TO CONFERENCE TITLE CAMPAIGN

Undeclared Techmen Steam-Rolled Eight Rivals

Chicago, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Bradley's undefeated basketball team, which has steamed over eight foes from as many states this season, turns to Illinois college conference championship play this week.

Opening against Millikin tomorrow night at Peoria and invading Monmouth Friday, the Techmen enter a race dominated the first week by Illinois Wesleyan and North Central. Wesleyan rebounded from an eight-game pre-conference losing streak to vanquish Millikin and Illinois college. As a result, it shared the conference lead today with North Central, which also has two victories.

The same record permitted State Normal to pace the Illinois Intercollegiate Athletic conference from which the Illinois college schools seceded.

Tough Schedule Ahead
Both leagues have a six-game title schedule ahead this week. In addition to Bradley's debut, Wheaton is scheduled to make its first Illinois college conference appearance Wednesday against Lake Forest. Wesleyan is idle, but North Central will be out to run its victory string to four games with Millikin and Wheaton. Monmouth and Knox provide the sixth engagement.

The conference produced four close contests last week with Lake Forest participating in three of them. After a 43-42 setback to North Central, Lake Forest nosed out Monmouth 51 to 50 Friday only to succumb Saturday to a last minute Knox attack that brought the Siwash a 41 to 39 decision. North Central conquered Augustana 42 to 39 in another Saturday feature.

The Illinois Intercollegiate conference program will find State Normal risking its lead in skirmishes with St. Viator and Northern Teachers. Western Teachers, Southern Teachers and McKendree, undefeated in their first games, will meet Eureka, St. Viator and Carport Baptists, 22 to 20, and beating the Freeport Y. M. C. A. club, 43 to 17.

In the first game Mt. Morris held a 15 to 5 lead and in the second game the Mounters held a 20 to 10 advantage.

Polo Quintet Wins 25 To 19 Victory Over Lanark Team

(Telegraph Sports Service)

Polo, Jan. 17.—Coach Owen Ralston's determined Polo Community high school hoop team invaded Lanark of the U. S. Grant conference Saturday night and turned in a 25 to 19 victory.

Aside from the first period when Lanark stepped into an 8 to 6 lead, and a tie of 8 to 8 at half time kept the hosts in the running, Polo was marked for the triumph. The Ralston boys held an 18 to 13 third quarter advantage largely due to the sharpshooting of Grossnickle, substitute center, and the even distribution of scoring among the whole team, making it difficult for Lanark's guards to spot any particular star for extra-careful guarding.

Lanark's main scoring punch was centered around Merchant, a forward. None of the rest of Lanark's players were dangerous on the offense.

Arguments Begin in Alleged Price Conspiracy Case

Madison, Wis., Jan. 17.—(AP)—Federal Judge Patrick T. Stone reserved his decision today on defense motions to acquit 10 major oil companies and 36 individuals still on trial for an alleged conspiracy to fix gasoline prices in 10 midwestern states.

Judge Stone directed the prosecutors and defense attorneys to proceed with final arguments to the jury, which is expected to get the case by Thursday or Friday.

Motions for directed verdicts of acquittal were made at the conclusion of the defense case and the prosecution's rebuttal last week.

THREE-EYE LOOP NOW EIGHT TEAM BALL CIRCUIT

Shaughnessy Play-off System Will Be Used Now

Moline, Ill., Jan. 17.—(AP)—The Three-Eye League, which came through the 1937 baseball wars with only four teams in competition, had twice that many clubs signed today for 1938.

The circuit, oldest Class B organization in baseball, accepted Evansville, Ind., as the eighth member at a meeting yesterday and will play a 126-game schedule with these clubs fighting it out: Evansville, Ind., Decatur, Bloomington, Springfield and Moline, of Illinois, and Clinton, Waterloo and Cedar Rapids, of Iowa.

The campaign will open May 1 and close September 4, with a committee delegated to determine cities where openings will be played.

The Shaughnessy playoff system, now used by the American Association, was adopted, with the first and third and second and fourth place clubs playing series to determine finalists. An all-star game will be held.

Four Teams Last Year
The league finished the 1937 season with Peoria, Decatur and Moline, Ill., and Clinton, Iowa, in competition. Recently, the old Western league gave its clubs permission to seek membership in other organizations, a move which enabled the I. F. I. circuit to expand.

At yesterday's session, called to determine whether the eighth team would be Evansville or Davenport, Iowa, these clubs representatives were in attendance:

Peace Hopes Vanish

It was evident that all chance of negotiating peace with the Chiang Kai-Shek government on Japan's terms had vanished and that Japan, in readjusting her diplomatic policies by withdrawal of recognition from the Nationalist government, has taken the stand Japan's "responsibilities for peace in East Asia now are even heavier than before."

A foreign office spokesman said Chiang Kai-Shek did not specifically reject Japan's proposals, "but his attitude was tantamount to rejection."

After recording him what he considered "one last chance," the Japanese government thought best to cease dealing with Chiang Kai-Shek, the foreign office spokesman said.

Kawagoe Not Ordered Home

Kawagoe has not been ordered home, nor has the Chinese ambassador to Japan been asked to leave because of the withdrawal of recognition, a foreign spokesman explained. However, he expected the Chinese ambassador voluntarily to leave Japan soon.

The Japanese war and navy offices today invoked the munitions industry mobilization law, whereby the government directs in detail the production of munitions.

Domei reported Premier Prince Fumimaro Konohe had told Japan's parliamentary leaders the conflict with China was assuming a more grave aspect.

Konohe, explaining yesterday's statement of Japan's new policy toward China, told the members of both houses of the diet that the government had adopted "another course of serious nature." If the premier disclosed the full scope of the new policy, it was not detailed by Domei.

SCANT SUPPORT FOR U. S. PLAN TO BUY POWER FIRM

Largest Utility Company In Tennessee Valley Area

Washington, Jan. 17.—(AP)—A proposal that the government buy out the largest private utility group in the Tennessee Valley received scant support today from the first members of Congress to discuss it.

Wendell L. Willkie had suggested that, "as a last resort in a desperate situation," the government purchase power companies in that area which are subsidiaries of the Commonwealth and Southern corporation. Willkie is president of the latter company.

Rep. Rankin (D-Miss), leader of the public power bloc in the House, was more favorably inclined toward the idea than other legislators who commented. He expressed willingness for such a purchase if the price were not based on "inflated values."

Chairman May (D-Ky) of the House military committee, however, opposed purchase "at any price" as the beginning of "state socialism." Senator Norris (Ind-Neb), father of the Tennessee Valley Authority, said the government should make purchases only to avoid duplicating transmission lines, or other equipment of private companies, but added:

"The utilities have made this difficult by asking a price that nobody could afford to pay."

Is Reply to F. D. R.

Willkie said his proposal was a reply to President Roosevelt's suggestion that the utilities sell their distribution systems to cities in the area.

Because the cities would not want to buy the power plants and less-profitable rural lines, he said, "the generation and transmission lines not purchased by the city will be reduced to the value of junk."

Meanwhile, one administration adviser expressed doubt that the President would seek abolition of all business holding companies at this session of Congress. Mr. Roosevelt said at a press conference last week that holding companies ought to be disbanded.

Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, former NRA administrator, declared last night that the President's holding company pronouncement made "pickers and amateurs" of Hitler, Stalin and Mussolini in many respects.

"The people had not demanded that holding companies go," he told a community forum audience of the Washington town hall. "Congress had not demanded that holding companies go. One man made the remark at a press conference."

President Roosevelt arranged to discuss recovery this week with the business advisory council, and informed officials said additional talks with leaders of business, labor, farming and the consuming public may follow.

Mr. Roosevelt has invited the 56 business men who compose the business council to meet at the White House Wednesday afternoon, before their regular session at the commerce department.

LAGUARDIA ASKS PUBLIC WORKS TO BATTLE SLUMP

Urges Business To Keep Prices Down For Spending

Washington, Jan. 17.—(AP)—New York's Mayor LaGuardia advocated today a new Federal public works spending program to meet the business recession.

He also urged business to keep prices down as a boon to private spending.

Bouncing up and down in the witness chair before the Senate unemployment committee, the swarthy mayor demanded a "better break" in work progress administration relief for employables in the nation's largest city.

Both LaGuardia and Mayor Harold Burton of Cleveland, who testified after him, urged expansion of the WPA program to take care of all jobless employables in the nation. The browned, gray-haired mayor of Cleveland said the government should keep out of the "boundless field" of direct relief.

LaGuardia recommended that, in addition to launching a new public work program, the Federal government prescribe for uniform work day and week standards.

He urged that the WPA take care of all employables who were out of jobs, that the United States employment service be brought under the social security board and that steps be taken to provide the needy with food from the agricultural surpluses.

Need Federal Aid

LaGuardia told the committee today that New York City "could not have existed" during the business recession without Federal aid.

He said this was true of other large cities, too.

"I suppose I am the only witness who has appeared before this committee who has no complete solution for the relief problem," LaGuardia said.

The stocky little mayor disclosed New York City relief applications had mounted from about 2,780 pending in September to 7,400 on file at the present time.

LaGuardia asserted the huge public works administration expenditures had created the business improvement since the depression but "the pass was incomplete" because "business and industry missed the ball."

He said business should have co-operated to keep down prices and overhead charges, realizing that the government expenditures were temporary only. This failure on the part of business caused the sharp trade recession, he charged.

"Balancing the budget doesn't bring about recovery, but recovery balances the budget," he said, scoring those who oppose a long-term, regulated program of government spending.

longer it is debated, the more apparent it becomes that it should not pass."

Some administration senators, however, forecast that night sessions would be ordered soon, and that such a step would cause the filibuster to collapse. A few even talked of limiting debate, although opponents declared they could block that proposal.

Hope for Discussion Soon

Barkley and other administration leaders have been hopeful some decision could be reached soon so that the government reorganization bill, next on the senate calendar, can be taken up.

Savanna, Dixon, Freeport, Sterling and Mt. Morris have been hosts to the annual convention in past years as well as Morrison, and although these cities again wanted the convention, Rochelle was accepted as the convention city, not only because it was a "next in line" but because the local post has an enviable reputation as entertainers.

At the regular meeting of the post held at Treasure Island, Monday evening, John P. Manning was elected general chairman of the convention.

Washington, Jan. 17—(AP)—The United States' new warship building program, tentative statistics showed today, will provide work in the next fiscal year for 77,000 men.

This estimate was made by navy officials on the basis of recommendations in President Roosevelt's 1939 budget message. Requests for supplementary construction are expected in his national defense message, which may be sent to congress in a few days.

The 1939 budget asked for an expenditure of $134,000,000 for new construction. Of this sum, $122,500,000 is for new warships, but the whole $134,000,000 may be considered in estimating the employment to be provided.

Add an estimated 20 to 25 per cent for the supplementary esti-

CHILDREN MUST ASSIST PARENTS STATE DEMANDS

Held Responsible for Elders' Sustenance if They're Able

A more strict enforcement of the rules governing responsibility of children in caring for their parents is demanded by the state welfare department. Children who allow their parents to receive old age assistance when they are perfectly able to care for them will be held legally responsible.

Responsible relatives of applicants for old age assistance have been asked to fill out special forms listing the personnel of their families, their earnings and other income, their real and personal property and their indebtedness and make a statement as to their ability to contribute to the support of the applicants.

The use of the old form has been discontinued and investigators have been instructed to call on each child wherever possible and discuss with him his willingness and ability to contribute to the support of his parents. If he is willing and able to contribute, he will be asked to sign a form stating this fact and the amount he is willing to contribute. Children living in other counties of the state will be called upon by an investigator from the board in which the children live. Children living outside of the state will be called upon by a visitor from the public welfare department of the state wherein they reside.

In instances where a child has refused to co-operate in giving any information as to his willingness to support, the applicant may be refused assistance.

Judgment as to the ability of the child to support will depend on the facts learned by the investigator. These facts will take into consideration the financial resources and liabilities of the child to support his parents, his obligations for his own needs, his immediate family and his creditors will be taken into account and the cost of living in the community will be considered. If, after the consideration of these facts in relation to the child's ability to support, it is found that he is able but refuses to contribute to his parents, the county department may deny assistance.

Children Responsible

'Children responsible for the support of their parents under the old age assistance act are defined as those who are legally responsible for such support under the pauper act,' the bulletin from the department reads. 'Married daughters who have no income or property in their own right, and step-children cannot be held legally responsible for the support of their parents. The fact, however, that married daughters and step-children do have an obligation indicates that such children will be expected to support as though they were responsible under the law. All children over 18 are to be visited and also any under 18 years of age who are working.'

COMMODITY PRICE TREND

The new year failed to bring about any change in the downward trend of commodity prices. Largely because of sharp declines in certain livestock prices, further reductions in quotations for dairy products and losses in many food items. It is noteworthy, however, that declines during the past month have been irregular, indicating that some sort of base is being formed.—The Annalist.

Chicago—Razing of one of the south side's best known landmarks, the five story Holland hotel, at the northwest corner of East 53d street and Lake Park avenue, and its replacement with a modern one story business building by the Walgreen company was announced yesterday. The new unit will cost $75,000, according to A. Epstein, structural engineer, and will have foundations capable of carrying four additional stories.

The new building, fronting ninety feet on 53d street, and eighty on Lake Park avenue, will be air conditioned.

Drug Store on Corner

The Walgreen company will use the corner 40 by 80 foot space with the drug store unit now on the property. The remaining stores will be leased. The Walgreen company has a long term lease on the corner.

The present building was built just before the 1893 World's Fair and for years was considered one of the finest hotels on the south side. In later years it became known as a music center.

The new Chicago building is one of a number of structures completed, under construction and planned for other cities throughout the country by the Walgreen company, all designed by A. Epstein, of Chicago.

Composes $800,000 Program

These involve a total expenditure in buildings and equipment of approximately $800,000. It was said. A three story building to cost $200,000 is planned for Canal street, New Orleans. A $150,000 unit will be built in Jacksonville, Fla.

An $85,000 store building will be built in St. Louis, Mo., and another to cost $65,000 in Mason City, Ia. A $100,000 structure has just been completed in Flint, Mich., and a $50,000 store in Springfield, Mo.

New Theater To Open in Minonk

A new modern theatre to replace the present inadequate building, will be opened at Minonk on Friday night. The new theatre which will be known as "The Minonk", is built on modernistic lines. It will replace the present Royal Theatre which has accommodated the community the last 18 years. The Royal was purchased a little over a year ago by H. U. Bailey and John W. Bailey of Princeton, who will become the owners of the new theatre which will be the only one operating in the town which has a population of more than 2,200 people.

The new Minonk theatre will have the latest in lighting effects, seats, carpets and furniture. It will be supplied with Motograph projectors such as are used in the loop theatres of Chicago, including the Chicago, Oriental, Roosevelt, Palace and other theatres. The sound will be Microphonic, manufactured by the Western Electric Company, being the last word in sound effect. The new theatre will have a large lobby and foyer, lounge and rest rooms, and adequate heating and air conditioning plants. The air conditioning will be supplied by a coil system in which cold water will be used. The new theatre will have a seating capacity of 540 as against 360 in the present building. The new theatre is located on the east side of Main Street, facing the railroad square which is to be beautified with landscape gardening the coming year.

MOTOR TAXES COME HIGH

Statistics compiled indicate that the average motorist pays more than $50 a year in automotive taxes, of which some $30 represents gasoline taxes. The federal government and all the states levy gasoline taxes, which in 1937 reached an estimated total of more than $950,000,000. When a motorist owns a $50 car pays out $50 a year in automotive taxes, he is paying taxes which are 100 percent on the cash value of his automobile. If he earns $25 a week, he must work two whole weeks to pay the taxes on his annual motor travel.—American Petroleum Institute.

Richest Girl in the World

BY ADELAIDE HUMPHRIES

CAST OF CHARACTERS
CONSTANCE CORBY—heroine;
richest girl in the world.
BRET HARDESTY—hero;
bridge builder.
RODNEY BRADON—Constance's
uncle.
KATIE BLYN—Constance's "double".

Yesterday, Eloise discovers the jewels in Katie's room, tells Bret. At that moment Katie enters, challenges Bret to believe she is honest.

CHAPTER XI

"YOU should know better than that," Bret answered Constance's question. His dark eyes looked into hers. Now they were completely unguarded, all barriers let down.

So that, looking into them, she saw what she had wanted to see and all her anger was melted. Her own eyes grew soft and shining. "That's all that matters," she said simply. It seemed to her, in this breathless moment, that it was Constance Corby. Forgotten this Bret did not know who she was. That the day must come when she must tell him. She had forgotten Eloise's bitter accusation. Just as now, looking into each other's eyes, they both had forgotten the other girl's existence.

They did not notice even when she got up quietly and slipped from the room!

Two long strides brought Bret to Constance's side. He took her hands in his. "Dearest," he said, and his voice was husky, "you know that I don't care who you are, or have been, I only know that you're the only girl in the world for me. And that I love you."

"And I love you, Bret Hardesty," Constance said. And then, "Please," she whispered "aren't you going to kiss me?"

Now she knew why she had changed places with Katie Blyn, why she had left her golden world, why she had been born! This was that lovely, secret romance that she had sought. This was the heart's desire that Bret had wished for her.

"Fetch a wrap of some sort," Bret said, after he had kissed her, without any more urging, and most completely. "We'll take a walk, darling. Climb up to the top of the hill by the little church—look at the stars. Hurry! I want to tell you again how much I love you!"

"And you're the gentleman who claimed he had no time for romance!" Constance chided gayly. "You're the lady who predicted I'd learn!" he reminded.

UPSTAIRS at the door of her room Constance encountered Eloise. Her pale face was streaked; her eyes red and swollen. "I wanted to tell you I'm sorry," she murmured. "I didn't mean to say the things I did. I know you're not a thief, Miss Blyn. I know I had no right. It's just..." Her voice faltered, she turned her head; she could not go on.

Constance put her arms around her, drew her close. "I understand," she told this girl whose defeat was her triumph, who had given her heart into the same man's keeping. "Better than you think I do. Come in a moment, Eloise, please." She drew the girl on inside, closed the door behind them.

From the big oak bureau Constance took the emerald brooch, the ring, the exquisite gleaming pearls. "They were my mother's," she told Eloise, for that was true. "She left them to me. I want you to have these pearls." As she spoke she clasped them around the slender white throat. "They look like you, Eloise. They are like you. See—look in the mirror! Aren't they becoming? As translucent and lovely as your skin, a fitting compliment to your gorgeous hair."

"Oh, but I couldn't accept them!" Eloise stared at her mirrored reflection. The pearls did indeed become her. Why! she could look like a princess, too, had she had the fine raiment. Never in her life had she looked like this, hoped to own anything so beautiful.

"Of course you can accept them. I shall be hurt if you refuse," Constance said. "I want you to have them, Eloise. I want to give them to you."

Little enough to give, when she had so much more. Though Constance was not thinking of her millions. She was thinking of Bret and who waited downstairs to walk with her to the top of the hill, to tell her again that he loved her. "After what I said about you..." Eloise marveled. Her eyes filled with tears once more. "After I've been hating you all this time, wishing you'd never come here... I know now I was wrong. You're sweet and kind, even though you are different."

"Then we'll be friends?" Constance smiled at her. "You'll be my little sister, as well as Bret's." She did not need to wound this girl more deeply by telling her that she had read her secret. Let her cherish that, at least, inviolable.

"If you want me to be, really and truly..."

"REALLY and truly!" Constance said, she crossed her heart, in childhood fashion, to prove her sincerity, to seal the vow between them. Then she laughed gayly. "But we must not be so solemn about it! I've never had a little sister in my life, or a real girl friend. That is 'really and truly', too, believe me! This has made me very happy, Eloise. And if it's done the same for you, take your pearls and put them away and keep them to remember me by, always."

"You sound as though you're going away forever!" Eloise said. Her eyes were big and wide; but her face no longer was so pale, a smile hovered around her quivering lips. "Just when we've become friends, too!"

"But I'm only going for a walk up the hill!" Constance assured her. She had taken her coat from the closet, slipped into it. Now she buttoned the collar close about her neck, thrust her hands deep into the pockets. But it might have been a coat of ermine, so shining was the look she wore, so bright her eyes, her heart so full.

So that the other girl turned away as though she could not bear to look upon such radiance. "I thought you'd changed your mind," Bret said, when Constance came down. "I thought you weren't coming."

"I'll never change my mind," she told him.

"I'll never let you!" he warned her. He put his arm through hers; together they went out into the soft, starlit night; together climbed the hill.

Oh, she thought, let me have this little while, this one sweet night, at least. Almost, it was a sort of prayer. So fearful was Constance that such happiness, such throbbing joy, could not be lasting. Romance should be secret, that real Katie Blyn had said. Secret and sweet, shared by two alone under a starlit sky by a little white church at the top of a hill.

Later, she would tell him. Tell him that she was not Katie Blyn, who worked for him in the construction camp office, not a girl who had needed his help, not anything he believed her to be. But this was her hour. It belonged to her; she had won it fairly. For it was she he loved, this golden-haired girl in his strong arms, his lips on hers, their two hearts beating as one. Constance Corby, the richest girl in the world, had nothing to do with this hour, at all.

Brain Twizzlers

By PROF. J. D. FLINT

The police had narrowed the suspects in an underworld "ride" mystery down to four. They were known as Pinky, Snow, Buckets and Jitter Joe. One of them was a dope peddler, one a gunman, one a swindler and one a labor racketeer.

At the investigation they testified as follows:

1. Pinky denied being a dope peddler and said neither Snow nor Buckets was a swindler.

2. Snow denied being a gunman or a racketeer and said neither Buckets nor Jitter Joe was a dope peddler.

3. Buckets denied being a dope peddler or gunman and said neither Pinky nor Jitter Joe was a gunman.

4. Jitter Joe denied being a racketeer or a gunman and said neither Snow nor Buckets was a racketeer.

The guilty man was the only one who gave false testimony. Who was the murderer?

NEW AIR LINE PROPOSED

The Mexican Aviation Co., affiliated with Pan American Airways, is working out a project with the Mexican government for the opening of a new airline from Los Angeles to Havana, via Mexico. With the new 32-passenger four-motored land planes now being built for Pan American by Boeing, this trip could be made in one day. — Wall Street Journal.

Sets Record

Milwaukee Man, 100, Works for Railroad for 83 Years

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 17—(AP)—John M. Horan, who claims to be the oldest active railroad employee in the United States, worked as usual today, little concerned over his approaching 100th birthday. It was 83 years ago that the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific Railroad company offered Horan his first job, the task of keeping woodburning locomotives supplied with fuel. Today, Horan is still working for the same railroad.

On the eve of his birthday next Sunday, Horan will be honored at a dining car luncheon in the Milwaukee shops. President H. A. Scandrett and other railroad officials will attend.

When Horan took his first job of piling cord wood on the tenders of locomotives he was only 17. In those days, he said, metal tokens were used by engineers to pay for their load, so a check could be kept on the fuel consumption of locomotives.

With the development of motive power he became a machinist. Later he served as an engineer and then as an inspector of locomotives.

Today Horan, who for years has spurned a pension to remain active, is inspector of the boiler washing department in the Milwaukee shops.

His son, William, an engineer for the same railroad, is nearing his 70th birthday, and retirement.

HEARST'S PAPERS IN CHICAGO FACE GUILD'S STRIKE

Chicago, Jan. 17—(AP)—Harvey Kelly, general counsel on labor for the Hearst newspapers, said today he was willing to continue negotiations with the Chicago American and Herald and Examiner units of the American Newspaper Guild which, Organizer Donald Stevens said, voted to strike unless certain demands were met. Stevens announced last night that the two units had authorized the executive board of the Chicago Newspaper Guild to call the strike

"any time after midnight Wednesday."

He did not issue a formal statement, but said the Evening American and the Herald and Examiner, a morning newspaper, had discharged "closer to 125" employees recently. The Guild demands, he said, that those employees be placed on a "preferred rehiring list" and be given dismissal indemnity pay on a fixed scale.

The Guild also demands, Stevens said, the reinstatement of Earl Auld, Herald and Examiner photographer, and Harold Sullivan, a classified advertising salesman. Auld is treasurer and Sullivan an organizer for the Chicago Guild.

Referring to the Guild's action, Attorney Kelly said:

"If relations are broken off it will be by the Guild. Negotiations have been in progress for many weeks upon original demands by the Guild."

"Tentative agreement was reached by the representatives of the Guild and the management. If new demands by the Guild are unreasonable they will not be granted. If that means a strike, we are sorry."

In 1936, Canadian mills were the source of 70 per cent of the North American output of newsprint.

BEGINNING FASCISM'S
16th YEAR

LONG since the dominant leader
of the Fascist movement in Italy, Benito Mussolini conceived
the time for bold action was at hand in the fall of 1922. Obviously, the old political parties had broken down and in a Fascist meeting at Naples that October Mussolini, for the first time, openly talked of seizing power.
Soon after followed the epochal
march on Rome, organized and directed by Mussolini and showing his touch in every phase. He formed his ministry within seven hours and almost from the moment that he assumed office reform began.

So the corporate state took its place in Europe and the world saw it as an "internal affair," this new Fascism. But today, as Fascism begins its 16th year, what is the picture?

Fascism has revived old dreams of a Roman empire. Fascism is at war in Spain. Fascism is predicting that tomorrow all Europe will be Fascist. And a form of Fascism has already spread across the Atlantic. The Fascism of Italian racial revolution has turned to world conquest.

Commemorative of the 1922
march on Rome, one of the 16
Italian values of 1932 is shown here, a statue of Mussolini.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO- ROUND

vising the secretary of labor on life
in general, including ways and means of making the name "Perkins" a little more popular.

There are four members of the trust, as follows:
Miss Mary LaDame, special assistant to Miss Perkins, is the most active trustee. Miss LaDame is a woman of about 50, has spent most of her life in social work, was with the Russell Sage Foundation, became acquainted with Madame Secretary when Miss Perkins was
New York state industrial commissioner.

In the labor department Miss LaDame was assistant to Frank Persons, able director of the U. S.
employment service, but took matters over his head to the secretary to such an extent that the situation became intolerable. When Persons threatened to quit, Miss LaDame was moved into Miss Perkins' outer office.

Lady Lobbyist

Mrs. Clara Beyer, assistant to Verne Zimmer, director of labor standards, Mrs. Beyer is the wife of Dr. Otto Beyer, able member of the national mediation board (for railroad disputes). A native of California, she became an intimate of Miss Perkins when they both worked for the New York state government.

Mrs. Beyer is trying to fill the large shoes vacated by Ed Mc-Grady in lobbying for the labor department on Capitol Hill. But the fit has not been close and during the wage-hour fight Mrs. Beyer had no success in getting the House of Representatives to place
the legislation under Madame Perkins.

Miss Mary Dewson, member of the social security board and vice chairman of the Democratic national committee, is Miss Perkins' most capable adviser. In fact, she probably is the shrewdest lady around the New Deal high command.
Congresswoman Mary Norton of New Jersey, chairman of the House
labor committee, is rear-guard trustee. Being a little more popular than Miss Perkins, she should be sympathetic, if not useful.

The ladies' brain trust has not been received with wild applause
by masculine members of the New Deal, who point to the fact that Madame Secretary has some of the best masculine brains of the administration right in her own department.

However, Miss Perkins seems happy about taking her hair
down with members of her own sex, and it should be interesting to watch the future improvements.

Trust Buster

If you want an idea on the trend
the President's investigation of monopolies is likely to take, cast
an appraising eye over William A.
Ayres, the federal trade commissioner who is conducting it. His background is illuminating.

Ayres first came into political prominence during the Populist movement as the campaign manager of "Socksless Jerry" Simpson, congressman from Kansas. Later Ayres himself went to Congress, and William Jennings Bryan, then considered a radical, campaigned for him.

Ayres was defeated by his German and Scandinavian constituents
for one term because he voted for entrance into the World war, but later the elder LaFollette, who voted against the war, wrote him a letter to the effect that regardless of his war vote, he was too important a progressive to lose. This sent him back to Congress with a rush, and he remained there until Roosevelt.

Ayres is nearly 70, but has just

man of the FTC, has been one of its most tireless trust-busters. You his monopoly investigation will be a thorough one.

No Shrinking Violet

Representative Guy Moser of Douglassville, Pa., may be a rookie,
but he is no shrinking violet.
Not only has he one of the longest biographical sketches in the Congressional Directory, but he enumerates in detail the ramifications of his ancestry to show that he is the descendant of Colonial forebears.
"I put all that in," Moser explains seriously, "because during my campaign my opponents said I was just an 'unknown farmer with no background.' This will show them I really am somebody."
When Moser first took his seat,
some of his colleagues jokingly told him that he ought to revise his biography because Maury Maverick,
the Texas New Dealer, "lists one more Revolutionary ancestor than you do."

To which Moser haughtily replied, "I have no quarrel with Mr.
Maverick. I will stand on my record."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Life" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, January 16.

The Golden Text was, "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. . . In Him was life; and the life was the light of men" (John 1:1, 4).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "How excellent is thy loving kindness, O
God! therefore the children of men put their trust under the shadow of thy wings. They shall be abundantly satisfied with the fatness of thy house; and thou shalt make them drink of the river of thy pleasures. For with thee is the fountain of life: in thy light shall we see light" (Psalm 136:7-9).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook,
"Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy:
"Because Life is God, Life must be eternal, self-existent. Life is the everlasting I am, the Being who was
and is and shall be, whom nothing can erase" (p. 289-90).

Pilots Were Out When This Navy Plane Dropped In

No one was injured when a navy-marine plane paid an unexpected and unwelcome call at a Kansas City, Kan., home, with the results pictured above. Unable to pull the ship out of a spin, Capt.
Benjamin B. Southworth, and his observer, William H. Gregory, bailed out, landing safely with parachutes. The occupants of the home were badly frightened but unhurt as the plane tore into the roof, then settled into the yard between houses.

DO YOU KNOW ILLINOIS?

By EDWARD J. HUGHES,
Secretary of State

Q. What banking law was passed by the 17th General Assembly in 1851?

A. A general system of banking providing for a deposit with the auditor of U. S. or State stocks as a security for circulation under certain restrictions and limitations.
Three bank commissioners were provided for with power to examine the management of the banks and required to render quarterly sworn statements regarding their condition to the auditor.

Q. What was the vote on this proposal when submitted to public vote?

A. Adopted, 37,626 to 31,405.
Q. How did this system work?

A. As a system of legitimate banking it had many faults, but as a system for furnishing a safe circulating medium it proved a success until the time of the rebellion in 1861.

Q. How many banks operated under this system?

A. 110.
Q. What was the circulation of these 110 banks by 1860?

A. $12,320,964, secured by stocks
of the par value of $13,979,973.

Q. How many of these banks went out of existence by voluntary withdrawal or forfeiture under the law?

A. Fourteen, but of these the securities were found ample to redeem their notes dollar for dollar
in specie with one exception where there was a loss of 3 per cent.

Q. What sort of currency circulated in Illinois prior to this banking system?

A. Currency from other states.
Q. How great a variety of State currency was average at this time?

A. For example a C. B. & Q. railroad conductor on one trip collected $203 from 23 different banks of which Georgia furnished $115; New York, $11; Iowa, $5; Virginia, $5;
Tennessee, $5; Indiana, $5; Wisconsin, $6; Ohio, $10; Michigan, $10; Connecticut, $5; Maine, $5; and Illinois, $21.

Q. What was the effect of the Civil war on banks?

A. Only the bills of those banks which were based on northern securities passed current while less favorably secured bills passed from nervous hand to nervous hand.

Q. Were many banks closed by the war reaction?

A. By November, 1862, only 22
solvent banks were reported while 93 had suspended or gone out of business. The banks in liquidation had paid on their circulation all the way from part to as little as 49 cents on the dollar, the average being about 60 cents, involving a loss of nearly $4,000,000.

HORSE AND MULE MARKET BARN ARE BANKRUPT

Rambling Structure Busy
In War Days Was World-Known

Galesburg, Ill., Jan. 17.—(AP)—
The rambling old barns of the famous horse and mule market here awaited today final disposition by a referee in bankruptcy.

Wrecked by the march of progress, by the replacement of horses
and mules on farms with tractors,
and in cities by trucks, the market
went under the hammer Thursday.

Noted through the Middle West
for more than half a century as a great primary market for mules and horses of the draft type, the market became internationally known during World war days.

Buyers for the remount services of the Allied armies purchased literally hundreds of thousands of horses to fill the cavernous maw
of an insatiable war machine.
Horses which trotted through the sales rings in the dingy old sheds,
then known as the Marsh sales
barns, a few weeks later floundered
through the bobbles of Flanders,
dragging artillery to the lines.
Others carried cavalymen on dashing forays while some dragged out an uncertain existence in the S.
O. S. (service of supply).

Horse buyers swarmed through the nation's fields, looking for stocky sturdy animals for the artillery and draft work, with lighter kinds in demand for riding purposes.

Came From All States

The animals were shipped to Galesburg from every state in the nation, although most of them came from middle western farms and western ranges. The remount services bought many an animal which had never worn a halter.
The sales started early and lasted late, and often the purchased animals were shipped eastward by the train load for Europe-bound transports.

In more peaceful years, the sales
were held weekly, each Thursday afternoon. At these sales, especially in the early spring, farmers competed with buyers for the big city truckers for draft animals.

The sales ring was deep in the interior of the huge barns, which were a city block in length and of considerable width. The auctioneer's stand stood like a pulpit at one end and a semi-circle of white-washed bleachers filled all but a small place where the horses were trodden through the ring "showing off their paces."

The advent of the gasoline tractor superseded the use of horses and mules and the market and sales dwindled. For a time, the inevitable was postponed by holding regular sales of all kinds of livestock, but this failed to pay and the market became insolvent several months ago.
